

Educating for Peace through Countering Violence:

Strategies in Curriculum and Instruction

Candice C. Carter and Raj Kumar Dhungana, Editors

Chapter 7

Ethnopedagogy: Exploring Peaceful Traditions of Indonesia's

Sundanese Indigenous Communities

Ilfiandra and Mohamad Saripudin

Appendix A

Peace Values

Sundanese Peace Through Values

The following is the value of peace from the total peace of the Sundanese people, which can be adapted to the peace education curriculum.

Peace with God and Nature

Creating harmony and awareness as God's creatures
Caring for and preserving nature
Appreciating the existence and function of nature.

Intrapersonal Peace

Have honesty
Have a high patriotic and nationalist spirit
Stick to promises
Self-awareness
Patience and trust in the face of trials and suffering
Heed people's advice
Devoted, obedient, and obedient to parents.
Minimize competition

Interpersonal Peace

Do not take the rights of others
Speech and behavior must be honest

Respect for others

Speak and act carefully

Respect fellow creatures of God

Deal with conflicts carefully and according to the principle

Put others on equal footing with ourself

Empathy

Protect and supervise each other

Maintain togetherness and cooperation